1. What is Reciprocal Tuition?

In November 2009, the Province of British Columbia (BC) and the First Nations Education Steering Committee (FNESC) reached a Reciprocal Tuition Agreement.

Under that Agreement, the BC Ministry of Education provides full per-pupil funding* for students who are:

- attending a First Nation school (including a school operated by a First Nation named in the schedule to the First Nations Jurisdiction over Education in British Columbia Act – i.e. a Participating First Nation (PFN) – as of September 29 of the current school year,
- school age as defined by the BC Ministry of Education (at least five years of age by December 31 of the current school year and up to age 19 before July 1 of the current school year); and
- living off-reserve and ineligible for federal education funding.

These are students who would be funded by the Province of British Columbia if they attended a public or independent school.

The following students are not eligible for Reciprocal Tuition:

- Pre-primary or early childhood education children under five years of age on December 31 of the current school year.
- Students 19 years of age or older before July 1 of the current school year.
- Out-of-province or international students who are not involved in a reciprocal exchange, such as a Rotary Club Exchange Program. These are students who are not ordinarily resident in BC, and their guardians are also not ordinarily resident in the province. (The Ministry does not provide funding for these students).

 Note: The reciprocal tuition agreement states that the rates used to pay First Nation schools for reciprocal tuition funding are based on an amount "equal to the per FTE student block rate applicable in the public school district in which the school is located." In other words, each reciprocal tuition payment is based on the average per pupil funding for the school district in which the eligible band-operated school resides. This means that reciprocal tuition payments account for all of the items factored into those district averages, including Indigenous education and special education.¹

2. What Do I Need to Know About Reciprocal Tuition?

This Handbook has been created to support First Nation schools (including PFN schools) in accessing Reciprocal Tuition.

This resource is for non-Independent First Nations schools only. First Nations schools that are also BC-Certified Independent Schools are exempt from applying for reciprocal tuition, as they are automatically eligible for provincial funding for students who live off-reserve.

This Handbook provides a broad overview of the process for accessing Reciprocal Tuition and a summary of the general requirements for receiving this funding. More details are provided in the full Reciprocal Tuition Agreement. The Handbook explains which schools are eligible for Reciprocal Tuition. It then outlines how interested schools can apply.

We recommend that people who are interested in Reciprocal Tuition read through this short document for an overall understanding of the funding opportunity.

Then, all of the forms and documents referred to in this Handbook can be accessed from the BC Ministry of Education web site.

As highlighted further in this Handbook, additional help is available from the BC Ministry of Education.

3. Is My School Eligible for Reciprocal Tuition?

 As noted above, First Nation schools with Independent status are automatically eligible for reciprocal tuition and do not need to make special application to the Ministry.*

In order to be eligible for Reciprocal Tuition, non-Independent First Nation schools (including PFN schools) must meet the conditions set out in the Reciprocal Tuition Agreement, as summarized below.

- ☐ The school has current First Nations Schools Association (FNSA) certification, or in the case of PFN schools current FNSA or First Nations Education Authority (FNEA) certification, based upon completion of the First Nations Schools Assessment and Certification Process.
- ☐ The school employs only teachers who are certified by the Ministry of Education to teach the British Columbia Curriculum or, in the case of schools operated by a PFN, teachers who hold a First Nations Education Authority (FNEA) teaching certificate, other than teachers who teach First Nations language or culture.
- ☐ The school's staff have undergone a criminal record check² if they:
 - work with children directly; and/or
 - have, or potentially have, unsupervised access to children.
- ☐ Student records are established and maintained for all eligible students.³
- ☐ The school has established an appeals procedure for parents and eligible students.
- ☐ The First Nation school has applied for Personal Education Numbers (PENs) for all eligible students (see below for more information).

² For interested schools, a Criminal Record Checks and First Nations Schools pamphlet prepared by FNEA and FNSA (September 2016) is available from www.fnsa.ca.

³ A Student Record Keeping Handbook For First Nations Schools in BC prepared by FNEA and FNSA (updated 2016) also is available from www.fnsa.ca.

4. How Can My School Access Reciprocal Tuition?

A. If your school is interested in applying for reciprocal tuition for the first time ...

Non-Independent First Nation schools (including PFN schools) that want to access reciprocal tuition must submit a full and complete application to the BC Ministry of Education.

To get started, interested First Nation schools must electronically return Form 1601 to the Ministry of Education. This form is called First Nations School Data Collection. It must be submitted to the Ministry by September 6, 2022.

Form 1601 requests the following information.

- School demographics: name, physical and mailing addresses, telephone and facsimile numbers and email address
- Contact person: the name of the principal or head teacher

Step by step instructions for completing the 1601 Form are available from the Ministry of Education web site (see page 7 of this Handbook).

First-time applicants must also provide a signed and witnessed Reciprocal Tuition Agreement, and must mail or courier a direct deposit application. Application forms are available from the Ministry's web site. These documents must be submitted to the Ministry by September 22, 2022.

After a complete Form 1601 has been submitted, the Ministry will contact interested schools and provide them with access to the Personal Education Number (PEN) web application.

First Nations schools will then request a PEN for each reciprocal tuition student who has not already been assigned one – to be completed by September 26, 2022.

The school must also submit:

1. A spreadsheet showing all students who are eligible for reciprocal tuition – due by October 7, 2022.
 - i. The spreadsheet must list all eligible school-aged students who were in attendance as of September 29.
 - ii. For each eligible student, the spreadsheet must include a Personal Education Number (PEN), name, birth date, gender, and grade level.
 - iii. The spreadsheet must indicate the number of courses for all students in secondary grades.
2. A Reciprocal Tuition Checklist – due by October 7, 2022.
3. Proof of current FNSA school certification – due by October 7, 2022. Examples of proof include an official letter from the FNSA, or a legible photocopy of the certification plaque.

By October 14, 2022, the Ministry will notify applicants of any duplicate enrolments to be resolved between First Nations and public or independent schools.

All duplicate enrolments must be resolved by October 21, 2022.

The Province will send successful applicants appropriate payment by January 31, 2023.

B. If your school is interested in continuing to receive reciprocal tuition ...

All First Nations schools interested in continuing to receive reciprocal tuition must submit the following information to the Ministry.

1. An updated 1601 Form – due no later than September 6, 2022.
2. A request for PEN numbers for any new students for whom a PEN was not previously assigned – due by September 26, 2022.
3. A spreadsheet showing all students who are eligible for reciprocal tuition – due by October 7, 2022.
 - i. The spreadsheet must list all eligible school-aged students who were in attendance as of September 29.
 - ii. For each eligible student, the spreadsheet must include a Personal Education Number (PEN), name, birth date, gender, and grade level.
 - iii. The spreadsheet must indicate the number of courses for all students in secondary grades.
4. A Reciprocal Tuition Checklist – due by October 7, 2022.
4. Proof of current FNSA school certification – due by October 7, 2022. Examples of proof include an official letter from the FNSA, or a legible photocopy of the certification plaque.

By October 14, 2022, the Ministry will notify applicants of any duplicate enrolments to be resolved between First Nation and public or independent schools.

All duplicate enrolments must be resolved by October 21, 2022.

The Province will send successful applicants appropriate payment by January 31, 2023.
